About me

This is me in a few words

I enjoy fast cars (perhaps faster than Steve Randich's) and loud music, perfectly balanced by moments of quiet contemplation, Shakespearean verse, and Mozartean sonatas. I smoke barbeque, follow the Dallas Cowboys and Texas Rangers, and relate jokes that are funnier in Yiddish. I am happily married, with one wonderful daughter and son-in-law, two excellent step sons, and three perfect grandkids. Please do not ask me to help you with any home repairs.

He was inducted into the Washington Redskins Hall of Fame at FedEx Field during the 2009 season.

On September 14, 2016 Brian Mitchell was nominated for the 2017 class of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

How incredible does Switzerland look apparently nobody knows math. when the first creature enters the battlefield that is one mana, when the second creature enters the battlefield that is two more mana for a total of three. when the third creature enters the battlefield that is three more mana for a total of six.

$$1=1$$

$$2=3$$

$$3=6$$

$$4=10$$

this is called a geometric series. completely different than polynomial function like x^2 . the actual formula is $(n+1)*n/2$ where n is the total number of creatures that entered the battlefield that shared a creature type assuming there were none to begin with. To figure out how many you get if there are already creatures on the battlefield that share creature types with it as it enters the battlefield, then you use the same formula with n being the final number of creatures sharing a creature type then subtract the number from the formula with n being the starting number of creatures sharing the same creature type.

$$\frac{(((f+1)*f)-((s+1)*s))}{2}$$

with f being final and s being initial creatures that share the same creature type.

A woman with long dark hair, wearing a red sleeveless top, is seated in a black chair. She is laughing with her mouth open. Her feet are held in a grey, perforated foot restraint. A man in a blue long-sleeved shirt is kneeling on the floor, using a thin stick to tickle the soles of her feet. The background shows a plain wall and a doorway leading to another room.

Hello Mark, will we have cards one day that alter CMC on permanents, like the way we have Mind Bend alter colors on cards? I think it makes cards like Enchanters Bane, Kaya, Orzhov Usurper and Vraska, Golgari Queen more versatile. Just exploring new waters but thought about, thanks! :)

Altering CMC is pretty complicated and not relevant so much of the time. I'm skeptical, but I never say never.

Hello Mark, have a question with these 4 creature types and their differences: Illusions, Mutants, Shapeshifters and Elementals? I was under the impression illusions and mutants could take any form the same way shapeshifter could but im at an impasse.

Illusions are magic in the form of a creature.

Mutants are creatures who have been changed through some internal or external force.

Shapeshifters are magical creatures that can change their shape.

Elemental are creatures made out of an element or substance.

Only shapeshifters change their shape from one creature to another.

Divergent thinking is a thought process or method used to generate creative ideas by exploring many possible solutions. It typically occurs in a spontaneous, free-flowing, "non-linear" manner, such that many ideas are generated in an emergent cognitive fashion. Many possible solutions are explored in a short amount of time, and unexpected connections are drawn. Following divergent thinking, ideas and information are organized and structured using convergent thinking, which follows a particular set of logical steps to arrive at one solution, which in some cases is a "correct" solution.

The psychologist J.P. Guilford first coined the terms convergent thinking and divergent thinking in 1956.

Associated traits [edit]

Psychologists have found that a high IQ alone does not guarantee creativity. Instead, personality traits that promote divergent thinking are more important. Divergent thinking is found among people with personality traits such as nonconformity, curiosity, willingness to take risks, and persistence.

Palindrome

Flower: Yellow-green, 1000-1500

Palaeohomon redempta Ross. For the Gen. cat. Palaeohomon (Gen.)

A palindrome is a word, number, phrase, or other sequence of characters which reads the same backward as forward, such as madam, racecar. There are also numeric palindromes, including date/time stamps using short digits 11/11/11 11:11 and long digits 02/02/2020. Sentence-length palindromes may be written when allowances are made for adjustments to capital letters, punctuation, and word dividers, such as "A man, a plan, a canal, Panama".

Composing literature in collaboration is an example of collaborative writing.

The word palindrome was first published by Henry Peacham in his book, The Truth of Our Times (1628). It is derived from the Greek roots palin (πάλιν; 'again') and dromos (δρόμος; 'way, direction'); however, the Greek language uses a different word, i.e. *anepigramma*¹⁷ to refer to letter-by-letter reversible writing.

Anagram

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

An anagram is a word or phrase formed by rearranging the letters of a different word or phrase, typically using all the original letters exactly once.^[1] For example, the word anagram can be rearranged into nag a ram, or the word binary into brinary or the word alobes into abols.

The original word or phrase is known as the subject of the anagram. Any word or phrase that exactly reproduces the letters in another order is an anagram. Someone who creates anagrams may be called an "anagrammatist",^[2] and the goal of a serious or skilled anagrammatist is to produce anagrams that reflect or comment on their subject.

If you feel an anxiety or panic attack coming on, try the following:

- Take slow deep breaths. When you feel your breath quickening, focus your attention on each inhale and exhale. Feel your stomach fill with air as you inhale. Count down from four as you exhale. Repeat until your breathing slows.
- Recognize and accept what you're experiencing. If you've already experienced an anxiety or panic attack, you know that it can be incredibly frightening. Remind yourself that the symptoms will pass and you'll be alright.
- Practice mindfulness. Mindfulness-based interventions are increasingly used to treat anxiety and panic disorders. Mindfulness is a technique that can help you ground your thoughts in the present. You can practice mindfulness by actively observing thoughts and sensations without reacting to them.
- Use relaxation techniques. Relaxation techniques include guided imagery, aromatherapy, and muscle relaxation. If you're experiencing symptoms of anxiety or a panic attack, try doing things that you find relaxing. Close your eyes, take a bath, or use lavender, which has relaxing effects.

Stepmother Tickle 4 (MP4)

In Episode 4: The trophy wife/stepmom that is spoiled rotten to the core, is back and this time, she shows up at her step-sons door asking for another "Foot Rub". This time, her step-son calls her out and makes her admit that its the tickling she is really after. After suggesting that he again restrain her, he proceeds to tickle her. He's done some tickling research since their last get together and for this session he plans on giving his step-mother a ticklegasm. At first she objects but in the end she cums, squirting all over his bed. After which, she is completely embarrassed and tells him to untie her and that they will never be doing that again. I guess will have to wait and see if the step-son takes no for an answer.

Agent Miranda Meets Minion (WMV)

Agent Miranda is in for more than she bargained for this go around. Professor Skull is unleashing Minion, a genetically engineered creature specifically designed to administer tickle torture. The creature is relentless, ruthless and completely unforgiving as it attacks Agent Miranda's underarms and sensitive nipples. He goes farther by first cutting off the remnants of her tank top and then removing her boots and finally her pants, leaving her only in her black standard issue thong panties. Minion is so cruel that poor Miranda is tickled until she can't take anymore and loses consciousness.

NEW MODEL ALERT We have the very fun 28 years young Asian American Tal Mi! She is fun, talkative, nervous, and awkward in all the right ways. She is 5'2 with size 7 feet and the fun fact is I saw her pictures and in them she had SUPER interesting toes. So I took the gamble to book her. She was nervous going in but the moment her toes are in we get started. I start tickling her and she goes 'O my God, O my god, O MY GOD' She laughs but I can tell its not that bad at all. So I need to really get her going. So I break out the tools and BINGO. The vibrating foot tool is a MAJOR success. She giggles and laughs OH MY GOD. She begs me to change the foot...so I do...and she begs again so I keep going lol. Finally we get through all the tools and

Stupid Spy Preview asf

We Have You Now

Agent Jones made the mistake of turning her back on Layla's step-father for a minute. The seasoned operative uses his opportunity to overpower her and free his step-daughter. They then strip Agent Jones and tie her to her own device. They then clean off her feet and begin to punish her like she did to Layla. With fingers, feathers and tongue they torment her naked body until she can't take any more. What a stupid spy.

Tips for Shooting Stock Photography

While selling stock photography can be a great chance to sell your work, it's important you're registered you can start uploading images immediately.

BigStock

BigStockPhoto.com

Founded back in 2004, BigStock is another massive stock photography website – it's in fact a trademark of Shutterstock since 2009 when it was acquired. This probably makes them one of the largest stock photo network out there. Not only does BigStock feature royalty-free images, but also videos and vectors. In fact, there's a reported 81M+ files on the site in a wide range of categories. Their signup process is straightforward and you can signup and upload photos.

Getty Images

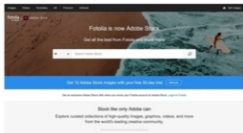

Gettyimages.com

Getty Images was one of the first companies to start licensing stock imagery online. Today, it is one of the most popular stock imagery websites. Getty's entry requirements are more stringent than many of the other agencies, and they only pay out 20% commission to photographers, but the amount of traffic that Getty receives means more potential sales, making it worth it for many photographers. Getty looks for images that convey emotions or concept, and images that are engaging, exclusive, and

Fotolia

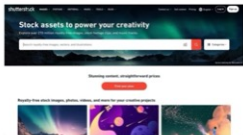

Fotolia.com

Fotolia is another top tier stock imagery site. It was acquired by Adobe in 2019 and is in the process of being merged into the Adobe Stock photography service. Fotolia features curated collections of high-quality images, graphics, and more from their large creative community. As you can imagine, with Fotolia becoming part of Adobe Stock, it is quite the powerhouse in the world of stock photography.

Shutterstock.com

Shutterstock is considered by many photographers to be among the top three stock imagery sites today. Shutterstock offers free registration, and commission rates start at 25%. Since Shutterstock is one of the main hubs for stock photography however, photographers face a decent amount of competition. To get accepted into Shutterstock, you must submit 10 photographs, 7 of which must be approved.

Psalms

Chapter 119/150

- Remember your word to your servant, for you have given me hope. 49
- My comfort in my suffering is this: Your promise preserves my life. 50
- The arrogant mock me without restraint, but I do not turn from your law. 51
- I remember your ancient laws, O LORD, and I find comfort in them. 52
- Indignation grips me because of the wicked, who have forsaken your law. 53
- Your decrees are the theme of my song wherever I lodge. 54
- In the night I remember your name, O LORD, and I will keep your law. 55
- This has been my practice: I obey your precepts. 56
- You are my portion, O LORD; I have promised to obey your words. 57
- I have sought your face with all my heart; be gracious to me according to your promise. 58
- I have considered my ways and have turned my steps to your statutes. 59
- I will hasten and not delay to obey your commands. 60

jmi1218 asked:

Hello Mark, have a question with these 4 creature types and their differences: Illusions, Mutants, Shapeshifters and Elementals? I was under the impression Illusions and mutants could take any form the same way shapeshifter could but im at an impasse.

Illusions are magic in the form of a creature.

Mutants are creatures who have been changed through some internal or external force.

Shapeshifters are magical creatures that can change their shape.

Elemental are creatures made out of an element or substance.

Only shapeshifters change their shape from one creature to another.

Get caught?

Life is full of fumbles and stumbles. Fraught with opportunities to make mistakes, occasions to feel guilty, and the drive to "do it yourself." The pressure to be self-sufficient is high, but it isn't the life God offers.

The way of the world will direct you to try harder and work smarter so that you can take care of yourself and even make yourself successful. But the way of the cross will point toward the place where you stop striving . . . stop pushing . . . stop every self-initiated effort—so that you can fall into the boundless, liberating, refreshing grace of God!

Just imagine being love-driven instead of self-propelled. Imagine abandoning your life to Jesus instead of trying to save yourself. Can you imagine exchanging your fears for that peace that passes understanding? Being relaxed and free instead of stressed-out and anxious? If you can imagine enjoying God instead of trying to repay him, then you can imagine grace.

So go ahead! Jump off the cliff of self-sufficiency. Leap out of legalism. Walk off the pier of guilt and condemnation. That's the only way you'll land in the strong arms of the Father who loves you . . . the Father who catches you—every time—in the grip of his grace.

Twenty years after it was first released, this message of hope and freedom is as relevant and life-changing as ever. And this beautiful 20th Anniversary Edition, which features colorful callouts and imagery, is the perfect addition to any personal library.

Protection from Red combined with Banding can be very effective

Example: This time, Jules attacks Peter with a Crimson Hellkite (6/6, Flying). Peter blocks with Mesa Pegasus (1/1, Banding, Flying), Thermal Glider (2/1, Flying, Protection from Red), and Roc of Kher Ridges (3/3, Flying). Under normal circumstances, Jules would decide how the Hellkite's damage is divided. Since the Pegasus has Banding, Peter will decide. Obviously, his smartest play is to assign all the Hellkite's damage (it's a red creature) to the Thermal Glider, whose Protection from Red will allow it to survive, while the combined damage from the three creatures will kill the Hellkite.

The situation would seem to get a bit more complicated when both the attackers and blockers have Banding, but the damage sharing still is operative. The attacker decides how the blockers will deal their damage to his creatures, and the defender decides how the attackers will deal damage to hers.

sharing still is operative. The attacker decides how the blockers will deal their damage to his creatures, and the defender decides how the attackers will deal damage to hers.

Example: Now, Jules attacks Peter with her Crimson Hellkite and Teremko Griffin (2/2, Banding, Flying) in a band. Peter blocks the Hellkite with his Mesa Pegasus, Roc of Kher Ridges, and Abyssal Horror (2/2, Flying). Jules assigns the Pegasus' 1 damage to the Griffin, and the Roc's 3 and Horror's 2 to the Hellkite. Peter assigns the Hellkite's 6 and Griffin's 2 to the Pegasus. When the damage resolves, the Pegasus is the only creature to die (unless Peter had played something to prevent all the damage to or regenerate it).

Bands with Other is special form of Banding, but otherwise basically follows all the same rules. An attacking creature with "bands with other [creature type]" can form an attacking band with other creatures that have the same "bands with other [creature type]" ability. Creatures with banding can also join this band, but creatures without banding can't. The creatures in this band don't have to have the creature type specified in Black Legend creatures you control gain bands with other Legend creatures.

Example: Jules has an Unholy Citadel in play. She attacks with her Croxis (6/6, Flying) and her Lord of Tresserhorn (10/4). She can form a band because they're both black (as well red and blue) and both Legends. Peter blocks the Croxis with his Yawgmoth Demon (6/6, Flying, First Strike). Normally, the Yawgmoth Demon would kill the Croxis, but Jules can use the damage sharing ability to assign 3 to the Lord of Tresshorn and 3 to the Croxis. Since both creatures live through the First Strike Combat Damage Step, they deal a total of 16 to the Yawgmoth Demon.

Banding has historically been difficult for players and judges alike to grasp, but is relatively simple once it's broken down. Section 502.10 of the Comprehensive Rules covers the ability in its entirety. If you're still having trouble, email me at juggernaut@acsalaska.net, and I'll be happy to lend you a hand figuring it out.

Oasis Mirage (mythic rare)

4GU

Legendary Enchantment

You may have lands you play enter the battlefield as a copy of any permanent on the battlefield.

Caring about lands that you play entering the battlefield rather than lands you control entering the battlefield is an unusual hair to split. Be very careful if you want to lean on that distinction.

Wow, what a crazy ability! This is terrific.

This looks broken to me. Once this resolves, all your ramp spells become the best thing in play. Explosive Vegetation, get you and your opponent's biggest, baddest creatures or planeswalker sounds way too strong to me. But the scariest thing about this is that lands are uncounterable and can't be responded to. There is no opportunity for counterplay once this resolves. This card is very difficult to play against.

This will function much like Spitting Image, except you don't get a clone up front and you can copy any permanent, not just creatures. I'd want to playtest with this to see how confusing it is to have lands that are copies of things rather than tokens that are copies of things.

This is a great mythic rare design. It's unique and it makes players try to figure out how to best use it.

Heart's Desire (mythic rare)

Enchantment

If you would search your library for a card or cards, search for twice as many cards that fit the search criteria instead.

Some cards like Cultivate that refer to a singular "the other" can easily enough be brushed off as affecting "the others," which is a power level issue rather than rules. Protean Hulk boggles in confusion, though—two sets with total converted mana cost 8, or one? I'd aim the text simpler to get straight to the point and only mention the bits you care about:

While searching your library for one or more cards, you may search for up to twice that many cards.

would reword this to search twice (since I am not confident "twice as many" always works), but it is a very interesting idea.

I like this card. It can lead to a lot of searching and shuffling (because you are building around it), which will slow down gameplay, but I think it is expensive enough where the amount of decks it will appear in is limited. I think this card looks fun.

This reads as pretty appealing for players (not me, mind you) who enjoy Tutors, but I'd be shocked if it actually works with many search effects. What does this do with Long-Term Plans? What about Scion of the Ur-Dragon?

Doubling searches? I think I'm in love. My only criticism of this card is a self-criticism that I didn't think of it first.

Rai, Living Experiment (mythic rare)

4UR

Legendary Planeswalker — Rai

+2: Discard a card. If you do, draw two cards.

0: Instant and sorcery spells you cast cost 1 less to cast this turn.

-8: Take an extra turn after this one. During that turn, whenever you cast an instant or sorcery spell, copy it. You may choose new targets for the copy.

This is a very clear Rai design.

This is nice. All abilities are appealing, the entire package works, and it is in character for Rai.

A cost-reduction ability on a six-mana planeswalker seems out of place to me. The ultimate doesn't seem very splashy to me; generally we want our ultimates to help bring the game to a close, but this ability is only going to close out games under certain circumstances (when you're ahead on board and/or have a powerful spell to double).

This both seems like a flavorful capturing of Rai Zarek and fun card to play. I particularly like the ultimate in that it allows you to take many turns setting it up. My one change is I might make the second ability an emblem so that it could interact with the ultimate.

Pam, Shapeshifting Planeswalker (mythic rare)

20U

Legendary Planeswalker — Pam

+1: You may choose a creature or non-Pam planeswalker on the battlefield. If you do, Pam becomes a copy of that creature or planeswalker and gains indestructible until end of turn. If Pam becomes a copy of a planeswalker, she may activate a loyalty ability once this turn as though none of her loyalty abilities have been activated this turn.

-2: Create a 3/3 green Ooze creature token.

-6: For each player, search his or her library for a creature or planeswalker card and put it onto the battlefield under your control. Then each player shuffles his or her library.

Be wary of giving planeswalkers indestructible—it won't save the planeswalker from damage-based removal, but if you say that a planeswalker gets it, it's easy to misconstrue that as your intent.

This is novel, but it takes so much text I don't know that it is fruitful.

I think this is a very cool +1. All of these abilities seem reasonable to me, as far as costs and numbers go. One concern I see here is the ultimate can be very time-consuming in a multiplayer game. Think about all the other players waiting around while you search each library. However, that is an easy fix, and overall I like this a lot.

I like the idea of a green-blue planeswalker that can shapeshift. The Ooze token is a nice simple thing that feels like it could fit thematically with a shapeshifting character. I really hate bribery effects, but I guess as a planeswalker's ultimate it's okay, and if you have loyalty left over afterwards you can do whatever the biggest thing is on your next turn. Just be careful of cards that punish players for casting good creatures (or planeswalkers) or even for including them in their deck.

I like each of your three activated abilities. Unfortunately, I don't understand what they have to do with one another. The key to good planeswalker design is to create something that allows the player to have an interesting set of interconnecting paths to explore, that by using the abilities in a certain order you can achieve some larger victory. Your paths don't really interconnect. On top of that your flavor doesn't bind them together either. Pam's a shapeshifter. That explains the +1 activation. Why is she making Oozes? Why is she able to summon other people's creatures and planeswalkers? It neither mechanically nor flavorfully hangs together. In short, I like your pieces, but they don't seem to be from the same jigsaw puzzle.

Sorin, The Prequel (mythic rare)

3WB

Legendary Planeswalker — Sorin

+2: Each opponent loses 1 life and you gain 1 life.

-3: Exile target nonland permanent an opponent controls until Sorin, The Prequel leaves the battlefield.

-10: Create a legendary B/W white Angel creature token named Avacyn, Angel of Hope with flying, vigilance, indestructible, and other permanents you control have indestructible.

This fits, but I don't like piling on "the whole game is removing this planeswalker."

There is some interesting tension here with exiling a creature and then having to protect this planeswalker or else they get their creature back. However I think as a package this planeswalker is very weak. It's pretty expensive at five, and when you plus it all you're getting is a drain. Since the plus is not worth doing, then you're putting this in your deck to use the minus, and this minus is not worth five mana. It looks like this card was made with multiplayer in mind, if it was I think it would be more interesting if the ability scaled with the number of players in the game (exile a creature for each player). As is, I believe this card is too weak to excite players.

This is nice and flavorful. The +2 ability plays into Sorin's primary identity as a Vampire. The -3 ability resembles the Helvault's ability, and Sorin's ultimate creates an Avacyn token. If we ever did some sort of flashback set about early Innistrad, a design like this might be appropriate.

My notes on this card are similar to my notes on your last planeswalker. I like the pieces, but they don't add up to a compelling whole. If Avacyn, for example was a 4/4 creature where her power and toughness was equal to your life total, then your life drain to get to the ultimate would have meant something. If anything, your middle ability decreases the chances you'll ever get to the ultimate, because once you lock something away, the ultimate essentially turns into -11 as you want Sorin to survive the ultimate. I do appreciate the flavor, and the tie to Sorin helps make this feel more cohesive than Farn, but there is still a bunch of tweaking I would want to see before we printed this.

Jori, Archaeologist (mythic rare)

18G

Legendary Planeswalker — Jori

+2: Put the top 2 cards of your library into your graveyard. Gain 2 life.

-2: Return target permanent card from your graveyard to your hand.

-2: Until end of turn, you may play cards from your graveyard. If a card would be put into your graveyard from anywhere this turn, exile that card instead.

Keep in mind that Jori's last ability will stop "when something dies" triggers when nontoken permanents die, but not tokens. Do you want to risk players misplaying, or play it safe and just have "a card or token" exiled if it tries to go to your graveyard?

This is a straightforward, solid planeswalker design.

Three-mana planeswalkers are tricky to make because they are much harder to deal with than four-mana planeswalkers by a significant amount. This comes down before the opponent has a board presence. For this reason, we usually start off three-mana planeswalkers with low loyalty. You started yours at three and it immediately goes to five. While it does not do anything on the plus, the opponent will have to invest a lot of resources in killing this. That said, I think this design is very cool. It has some fun play patterns (mill yourself, fill your graveyard, cast all your stuff, get back permanents when you need to do that). I am usually going to be happy activating any of the abilities and the choices are interesting, whether I want to work up to the ultimate or minus to get a key card back. I think this planeswalker is great if we adjust the numbers.

A tight package where every ability works together in a cohesive way. The Yawgmoth's Will ultimate is saucy! As I said above, planeswalkers are hard, and this one is pretty compelling. This card doesn't have any way to protect itself with its abilities, so it might want to start with higher loyalty (and have a corresponding higher ultimate cost).

This is another cool design. It leans a bit more black, but there's enough green in the design to justify the two colors. I wonder whether the ultimate should just be an emblem rather than an "until end of turn" effect.

Saheeli, Prodigious Inventor (mythic rare)

2UR

Planeswalker — Saheeli

+1: If you control no thopters, create a 1/1 colorless thopter artifact creature token with flying. Otherwise, sorry 2.

-2: Target thopter you control becomes a copy of target artifact or creature. It's still an artifact. (This effect doesn't end at end of turn.)

-8: You get an emblem with: At the beginning of your end step, search your library for an artifact card with converted mana cost X or less, where X is two plus the highest converted mana cost among artifacts you control. Put it onto the battlefield, then shuffle your library.

I like the abilities, but I doubt they all fit. Also, I would not be surprised if the middle ability needs to be -X based on the converted mana cost of the copied permanent, so I would try and find a significantly shorter ultimate, one short enough to fit the converted mana cost text.

Four mana walkers that create tokens on the +1 are risky in Constructed, and this is a nice way to mitigate that risk. The minus ability creates tracking issues as I must remember which Thopter is which creature, especially if this is activated multiple times.

This card presents significant user experience problems. Let's talk through my imagined scenario: I activate the +1 ability with an otherwise empty board. I get a Thopter, putting a cardboard token with "Thopter" printed on it onto the table. All good. My opponent doesn't want to cast their cool creature on their turn, because I will just clone it. I cast my own cool creature, then I activate Saheeli's -2 to clone it. However, the clone is represented by the cardboard token with "Thopter" written on it. Okay? On my next turn, I go to activate my +1 ability again. Wait, can I do this? Suddenly the fact that my -2 ability over-writes my Thopter token's creature type is very relevant, but not at all obvious from how the game state is physically represented. This seems unnecessarily confusing to me. Similarly, the ultimate ability shines a spotlight on the fact that copies of things have the same converted mana cost as the original, but again, my token won't have that information on it. All these criticisms aside, I like that all the abilities relate to each other in a way that makes the card feel cohesive. It feels like Saheeli to me, making artifact copies of things.

Planeswalkers are hard to design, partially because they have a lot of technical restrictions and partially because matching the flavor of the Planeswalker is difficult. I think you did a good job here. Now to nitpick, I like that the first ability restricts how many Thopters you have at one time, but I feel you got a little cheesy sneaking two effects onto one ability. The final ability interacts with the second ability, making you want to use them together, but the fact that they're both negative loyalty abilities means this will almost never actually happen.

Keeper, Underworld Warden (mythic rare)

2WB

Planeswalker — Keeper

1: Exile up to one target creature card from a graveyard.

-1: Target player reveals their hand. You choose a nonland card from it. Exile that card.

-2: Exile target permanent.

When CARDNAME leaves the battlefield, at the beginning of the next end step, return each card exiled with her to its owner's hand.

Often planeswalkers create a problem in that removing them is so critical that their presence on the battlefield leaves no interesting decisions. Your design however allows the player to hedge and exile creatures from their own graveyard, making the opponent think twice about destroying it. This design is a winner.

Having a dies trigger on a planeswalker is interesting, and this design gives both you and the opponent a good amount of tension, which will lead to fun gameplay.

None of this card's abilities interact with each other; even the -1 ability exiles the card from hand so you can't exile it from the graveyard later with the +1 ability. The rate on this card seems very strong to me; it can exile two permanents or four cards from hand for only four mana. The +1 ability is irrelevant under most circumstances, and probably won't be activated unless the opponent has already been completely stripped of resources. There is little for me to like about this design.

This is the first planeswalker design I've ever seen with a death trigger; I like how each of the abilities connects to the death trigger. I also like that it's a planeswalker where its controller will occasionally choose to kill it on purpose. I'll disagree with Ethan and say, all in all, this card is a nice little package of a design.

Get caught?

Life is full of fumbles and stumbles. Fraught with opportunities to make mistakes, occasions to feel guilty, and the drive to "do it yourself." The pressure to be self-sufficient is high, but it isn't the life God offers.

The way of the world will direct you to try harder and work smarter so that you can take care of yourself and even make yourself successful. But the way of the cross will point toward the place where you stop striving . . . stop pushing . . . stop every self-initiated effort—so that you can fall into the boundless, liberating, refreshing grace of God!

Just imagine being love-driven instead of self-propelled. Imagine abandoning your life to Jesus instead of trying to save yourself. Can you imagine exchanging your fears for that peace that passes understanding? Being relaxed and free instead of stressed-out and anxious? If you can imagine enjoying God instead of trying to repay him, then you can imagine grace.

So go ahead! Jump off the cliff of self-sufficiency. Leap out of legalism. Walk off the pier of guilt and condemnation. That's the only way you'll land in the strong arms of the Father who loves you . . . the Father who catches you—every time—in the grip of his grace.

Twenty years after it was first released, this message of hope and freedom is as relevant and life-changing as ever. And this beautiful 20th Anniversary Edition, which features colorful callouts and imagery, is the perfect addition to any personal library.

apparently nobody knows math. when the first creature enters the battlefield that is one mana, when the second creature enters the battlefield that is two more mana for a total of three. when the third creature enters the battlefield that is three more mana for a total of six.

 $2=3$
 $3=6$
 $4=10$

this is called a geometric series. completely different than polynomial function like x^2 . the actual formula is $(n+1)*n/2$ where n is the total number of creatures that entered the battlefield that shared a creature type assuming there were none to begin with. To figure out how many you get if there are already creatures on the battlefield that share creature types with it as it enters the battlefield, then you use the same formula with n being the final number of creatures sharing a creature type then subtract the number from the formula with n being the starting number of creatures sharing the same creature type.

$$\frac{((f+1)*f)-((s+1)*s)}{2}$$

with f being final and s being initial creatures that share the same creature type.

Our First Love

We didn't always love God, of course. To begin with, we hated him. The Bible describes us as enemies (Romans 5:10), strangers (Ephesians 2:12), rebels (Ezekiel 20:38), and haters (Romans 1:30); impure (Ephesians 5:5), disobedient (Ephesians 2:2), hopeless (Ephesians 2:12), and ignorant (Romans 10:3). Our sins justly placed us under his wrath and displeasure (Ephesians 2:3). We rejected God, despised his authority, and ignored his good law. We were neither lovely nor loving.

But he loved us. In the counsels of eternity, he set his love on us, and in time, he sent his beloved Son to die for us so that we might enter into a loving relationship with him. He brought us out of slavery into the joyful circle of his family and made us his privileged children.

children.

Because he loved us, we now love him. Our love for God is comprehensive: involving heart, soul, mind, and strength (Mark 12:30). It controls us (2 Corinthians 5:14), and it compels us (John 14:15). Our days and hours and minutes are taken up with this love. Like the psalmist, we look around us and proclaim that there is nothing in all the earth we desire apart from God (Psalm 73:25). He is our first love, and he is our great love.

God's Great Love

It's appropriate, then, that we would ask ourselves, What does God love? For anyone who has ever sat in the creaking pews — or folding chairs — of a local congregation on Sunday morning, the answer might be surprising: God loves the church.

one another's noiness, to show affection for one another, to bear one another's needs, to encourage one another's gifts, and to join in the cause of the gospel together. The people of our church are often outwardly unremarkable, but in the mutual love of the local church, we affirm the love that God has for us.

Thankfully, we don't have to muster up love for the church on our own strength. Before he went to the cross to redeem his people, Christ prayed for the church. He petitioned the Father "that the love with which you have loved me may be in them, and I in them" (John 17:26). Surrounded by the ordinary and yet extraordinary, sinful and yet holy, weak and yet ultimately triumphant people of God, we look for the Father's gracious answer to the Son's request. And when the God who is love (1 John 4:8) dwells in us by his Spirit, we have everything we need to love the church.

A close-up shot of a young anime-style girl with short, dark hair and large, expressive green eyes. She has a surprised or excited expression on her face, with her mouth slightly open. The background is dark and rainy, with streaks of light representing rain falling. The overall tone is dramatic and emotional.

This is the kind of fortune lot I'm looking for!

1. Recognize the germ.

Much fiction starts with a memory—a person, a problem, tension, fear, conflict that resonates with you and grows in your mind.

That's the germ of an idea that can become your story.

2. Write it down.

Write your first draft to simply get the basics of the story down without worrying about grammar, clichés, redundancy or anything but the plot.

3. Create characters from people you know.

Characters come from people you've or have known all your life (relatives).

Brainstorming interesting, quirky, inspiring, influential people and mix and match their looks, ages, genders, traits, voices, tics, habits, characteristics. The resulting character will be an amalgam of those.

4. Get writing.

The outlining and research has to end at some point.

TOPLESS TICKLISH SITUATION FOR THE MILF AURELIA - HD

Aurelia is tied to a chair for a special upperbody and neck tickle punishment. The tickler explores her most sensitive spots like her hips, ribs, underarms, breasts, nipples and he focuses a lot on her extremely ticklish neck. As usual Aurelia explodes in laughter with very communicative reactions but she can't escape the sadistic fingers on her helpless ticklish body. She's a real super ticklish milf who really enjoy being tickled even if she can't stand it at some moments. A nice new session with a topless ticklish milf.

Violet's Indian-Style Body Tickle Torture - Custom (FULL HD version)

Sexy, exotic Violet looks amazing in a traditional Indian outfit with a beautiful Sari for this hot body tickling custom! Violet only wears the Sari for special occasions but she wore it for us and it looks incredible on her as she is cuffed to the mule, standing for some intense tickling. Violet's armpits are her worst spot and she hates them being tickled... which is unfortunate for her this time as they get some intense tickling, along with her exposed belly and sides! Violet is soon gasping for breath as she laughs hysterically, even begging for a break at times. Her top is unbuttoned exposing her boobs and more of her torso which gets some very mean tickling in the final minutes. Poor Violet found this one very intense and we cut the scene a little shorter than planned - but decided her feet would have to get some tickling too (coming up!) 1080p Full HD resolution (1920x1080 pixels) 10 mins 27 seconds

Zara Really Hates Being Tickled In The Stocks! (FULL HD version)

Sexy blonde Zara Lei is super-sensitive and she really hates being tickled! It's unlucky for her as she finds herself in the stocks for a very mean tickle session! Zara's hot body looks amazing in a tight top, miniskirt, sheer pantyhose and heels as she starts out with her wrists cuffed above her. Her shoes come off and Zara's soon squirming as her nylon feet are tickled. She laughs and protests as her sexy feet get thoroughly tickled before moving on to her legs and upperbody, where totally she loses it! Zara really can't stand the tickling at all and she squeals and struggles frantically to get away, twisting herself into some crazy positions when her armpits and sides are tickled! Her top is pulled down to expose her massive boobs, which bounce around as she thrashes and struggles. Zara squirms around so much, we release her arms for the final minutes, focusing entirely on her feet. The pantyhose are ripped to expose her sexy bare soles and Zara really doesn't like what's in store! Her bare feet get intensely tickled, adding baby lotion and the toe-tees along with the hairbrush, which drives her really nuts. She squeals and writhes in the chair until it's finally over...and she's glad when it is! Zara does not like being tickled one bit but she does like getting her own back, and it turns out she's a great tickler too - watch out for her revenge, coming up soon! 1080p Full HD resolution (1920x1080 pixels) 11 mins 44 seconds

She wears little denim shorts and a vest top with sheer pantyhose and heels as she goes into the stocks with her arms up. The heels come off and Jasmine is soon gasping, squealing and laughing like crazy as her nylon feet are teased and tickled. Her body proves very ticklish too and she squirms and squeals with laughter again as her legs, sides and armpits are tickled! Her feet are her worst spot - especially toes and they get a lot of tickling with fingers and the brush before some thigh tickles that drive her completely nuts! Returning to her upperbody Jasmine's sides prove to be another tickle spot, and when her top is pulled down her massive boobs and nipples prove pretty ticklish too! Cherry Can't Escape - Custom (FULL HD version)

Super-fickish Cherry is hotter than ever as she gets very tightly strapped down for some serious tickle-torture! This custom clip features a little role-play as Cherry boasts that she can get out of even the tightest bondage...and even claims that she's not all that ticklish! It's a big mistake as she is then put through her paces in order to try and prove her point, with inevitable results as Cherry is tickled out of her mind! You get a bend-the-scenes view in this one as Cherry is strapped down and cuffed to the bench wearing a tight little crop top with a miniskirt and sheer pantyhose. She has her legs bound together to start with and her toes are tied as the tickling begins. Cherry can barely move in this position and she's soon squealing and shrieking with laughter as her nylon feet are tickled, followed by her super-fickish thighs! Things only get worse for Cherry though as her legs are and then spread apart and strapped down again, leaving her even more vulnerable to the tickles. It gets much more intense in this position as first feet, then legs and finally the upperbody are tickled. She's already going crazy by the time the belly and armpit tickling begins and it's clear that she definitely can't handle it - and neither can she escape! Cherry is soon going crazy and a beltgag is added to muffle her screams as the upperbody tickling continues. Her top is pulled up to expose her amazing boobs and it also leaves her belly and ribs exposed to some more brutal tickling. It gets worse when the chest strap is removed, exposing Cherry's whole torso and she screams and squeals through the gag as her body is mercilessly tickled for several minutes, almost turning the table over as she struggles! Finally the gag comes out, but the tickling doesn't end there. Poor Cherry begs for it to stop as she is taunted and tickled until the end, finally admitting that may have been wrong all along! 1080p Full HD resolution (1920x1080 pixels) 17 mins 11 seconds *N.b. Tickle-Torture For Ayla's Hyper-Sensitive Nipples - Custom (FULL HD version)

Tiny asian Ayla Sky gets one of her most intense tickles scenes ever in this wild boob tickling custom! Ayla has the most unbearably sensitive nipples we've ever seen and this one was genuinely very tough for her to shoot but she agreed to it! Fully nude, Ayla is bound upright for some breast tickle-torture. Her sensitive boobs and nipples are tickled with fingers and feathers as she laughs, squirms, screams and pleads. Even the lightest tickles are very intense for her, and she giggles and gasps when the feather brushes across her breasts. The nipple tickling is off the scale though and she really struggles to hold it together. It's a crazy and very intense scene with great views from two angles...poor Ayla really suffers this time! 1080p Full HD resolution (1920x1080 pixels) 14 mins 00 seconds

Chantelle Enjoys Tormenting Sophia's Hot Body - Custom (FULL HD version)

Gorgeous blonde Sophia Lee's hot body is totally at the mercy of sexy Chantelle Fox in this awesome custom! Wearing a shirt and jeans, Sophia has her wrists suspended overhead so that Chantelle can have a lot of fun with her. Sophia's tight torso is super-fickish and she laughs and squeals under Chantelle's fingers. She spends a lot of time teasing her sides, armpits and her exposed midriff for the first few minutes before she slowly unbuttons her top to expose her massive boobs. Her breasts prove ticklish too and Chantelle has fun teasing them as she tickles her all over her body! She pulls up the shirt to get right in to her sensitive armpits, which drives her crazy. Sophia's beautiful belly gets a lot of focus in this one too as Chantelle loves playfully reaching around and running her fingers all over, whilst a helpless Sophia can only stand and laugh! She kneels in front of her to really work over her front in the final minutes. Sophia's body is amazing, very ticklish and it's never had such a workout! 1080p Full HD resolution (1920x1080 pixels) 12 mins 17 seconds

Can Survive Nuclear Blasts

The strongest version of Wolverine must be Old Man Phoenix Wolverine which happened when Dr. Doom had attacked the earth in a near immortal form.

He has the normal powers of well Wolverine but he also has the Phoenix force behind him.

Powers include-

- Nigh Omnipotence: The Phoenix Force is practically omnipotent, but is limited in undetermined and undefined ways as seems to suit its current mission/purpose.
- Future Life-Force Tap: The Phoenix Force can tap into the energy provided by life-force reserved for future generations, thus denying them existence.
- Concussive Force Blasts: It can wield this energy to project beams of immense concussive force powerful enough to destroy whole planetary bodies.
- Energy Absorption: It can directly absorb, manipulate, and fully control any type of energy such as Cyclops' ruby-red-colored optic blasts or the entire energy of a star, black hole, or even a whole galaxy.
- Matter Transmutation: It can manipulate and transmute matter on a sub-atomic level (e.g., turning wood to gold, stone to crystal, cause physical bodies to disintegrate by altering their molecular structure, etc).
- Cosmic Teleportation: It can teleport others across vast distances such as another planet or galaxy, and the vast vacuum of space itself or even an entire timeline all-together.
- Resurrection Force: It can resurrect anyone it wishes with its near infinite powers, as it is the embodiment of life and death itself. It could also bring itself back as well as its host.
- Immortality: Force is immortal and indestructible. It can't die or be destroyed. After its "death" in Avengers vs. X-Men, it was said to be destroyed, but, as it has happened many times, the entity never truly died.
- Atmokinesis: The Phoenix Force is capable of manipulating and creating cosmic weather . It can create cosmic storms, solar flares, geomagnetic storms, cosmic rays , coronal mass ejection and black holes.

He is easily the most powerful version of Wolverine there is, he would have killed Thor if the Phoenix Force hadn't stopped him.

The message is focus on your craft because the only thing that matters at the end of the day is your output. The problem arises when people feel slighted by there peers success/recognition when the only thing you should focus on is how to be the best version of yourself.

 FabvL @FabvLMusic · Jan 3

I'll never understand why artists are always trying to compete against each other

Good music sells, the market is bigger than it's ever been and the opportunity never goes away

Just gotta focus on improvement and consistency and everything will fall into place at its own pace

COMICS EVERYTHING

The World Forger recently brought Batman to the greatest seat of power in existence, where Batman built the most powerful Bat-Suit of all. It contains Element X and can see peoples hearts, read minds, and not only change peoples minds but rewrite them cell by cell. And this future Batsuit is the only reason The new Justice League thinks the way they ~~do~~, because Batman used it on them.

Wolverine

One of the more gruesome ways the Hulk has been taken down has to be by the hand of Wolverine, arguably one of the most popular mutants of all the X-Men characters. In an alternate reality, a dystopian future sees the Hulk driven to evil. He sends his minions to destroy the small family Logan created in the desolate wastelands.

In anger, Logan challenged the Hulk one-on-one and was eaten. Being the resourceful type, however, Wolverine regenerated inside of the Hulk's stomach and clawed his way out, taking the Hulk out once and for all.

Silver Surfer

The Silver Surfer has got to be one of the most powerful beings the Hulk has ever lost to. Imbued with the Power Cosmic thanks to Galactus, the Silver Surfer has more power than can ever be accounted for. During the Tales to Astonish #93 storyline, the Hulk becomes enraged with the Surfer when the galactic hero is unable to take the Hulk away from Earth to be left alone.

The Hulk attacks, but is easily knocked unconscious by the Power Cosmic unleashed by the Surfer. Had the Hulk waited, he would have gotten his wish sooner or later.

Superman

Probably the most powerful hero to ever defeat the Hulk, it's none other than Superman himself. The DC Comics hero is undoubtedly one of the strongest superheroes of all time, and in 1996, Marvel and DC Comics decided to see once and for all who would win in a fight between these two titans.

In Marvel Comics vs. DC, the heroes from each universe are pitted against each other to see which universe survives and which gets erased. Superman is able to unleash his full power and not hold back like he usually does, making him victorious.

Drum MIDI inspired by the last two decades of metal.

In today's fragmented world of metal, the lines between genres have blurred to a point where often several styles seamlessly meld into one. jml1218 asked:

Hello Mark, been a minute since i messaged you but today is my birthday!! Can i get trivia on Ashiok design origins? Thanks!!

In earlier versions of the story, Ashiok was going to launch a war by attacking Theros with their own dreams, but that went away as we started building the pantheon of Gods and decided to have Heliod play a larger role.

Happy Birthday!

Daniela, 27 years old, come from Naples (the town of the actress Sophia Loren), so her is deeply Italian, and her skin exquisitely ticklish. In fact she feel the most delicate touch of a feather. My partner and me play with her the nice game of the: "Spy interrogation". In the full movie you'll see, beside the usual tickling, the thriller of the preparation, and how we address to her, and all the dialogues have SUBTITLE IN ENGLISH LANGUAGE. Then, to satisfy the tastes of everybody, I have subdivide the video in separate parts: just on the table, just on the bed, and, without the introduction of the interrogatory, just feet, bottom-legs, upper-body tickling actions. Total running time of the full movie: 23 min 35 sec.

Jonah 4:4

But the LORD replied, "Is it right for you to be angry?"

In Context | Full Chapter | Other Translations

Jonah 4:9

But God said to Jonah, "Is it right for you to be angry about the plant?" "It is," he said. "And I'm so angry I wish I were dead."

26 Because of this, God gave them over to shameful lusts. Even their women exchanged natural sexual relations for unnatural ones. 27 In the same way the men also abandoned natural relations with women and were inflamed with lust for one another. Men committed shameful acts with other men, and received in themselves the due penalty for their error.

28 Furthermore, just as they did not think it worthwhile to retain the knowledge of God, so God gave them over to a depraved mind, so that they do what ought not to be done. 29 They have become filled with every kind of wickedness, evil, greed and depravity. They are full of envy, murder, strife, deceit and malice. They are gossips, 30 slanderers, God-haters, insolent, arrogant and boastful; they invent ways of doing evil; they disobey their parents; 31 they have no understanding, no fidelity, no love, no mercy. 32 Although they know God's righteous decree that those who do such things deserve death, they not only continue to do these very things but also approve of those who practice them.

QUESTION MARK

BLOGS

I'm new here and I've seen people talk about different scales, what do they mean?

I have certain scales that gauge how likely a certain thing is to return to a premier set (the ones that go into Standard). 1 means very likely. 10 means very unlikely. Each scale is named after a 10 from that scale.

The Storm Scale is for mechanics.

The Venser Scale is for planeswalkers.

The Beeble Scale is for creature types.

The Rabiah Scale is for planes.

Mahikarinoikami Brilliant Question

1)I found out from the UNMASKED character book that halibel's attack that sliced Tōshirō is actually a spray of very high pressure water.

2)I failed to include it in my video but Uryu explicitly declared that hollows (and anyone with spiritual powers for that matter) would actually appear many times stronger in Hueco Mundo because of its reishi density in comparison to the human world. (Chapter 245) Since the top 3 fought in the world of the living This explains why their attacks were less destructive. So if Ulquiorra does a Lanza del Rempago in the living world it may not be as destructive as we've seen it in hueco mundo

Jesus said: "Well, I know where I come from and where I am going" (John 8:14). He knew perfectly who He was and the direction He was going. Nothing and no one could divert Him from His destiny, which was dictated by the Father and accepted by Him.

When we are in the midst of problems it is important to know where we want to go. It is common for problems to develop and bring confusion into our lives. During the storms of life, the instruments and indicators that normally help us navigate become confusing and we may lose our clarity and course. We need to navigate with certainty in order to get through the storm and

Jesus answered, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me."

God may not remove your trials.

You may have to go into the lion's den or the furnace. And that's scary.

But have faith that He will be with you through your trials.

Michael @MikeSuperPowers · 1m

Also, your trial may not even be about you.

"He comforts us in all our troubles so that we can comfort others. When they are troubled, we will be able to give them the same comfort God has given us."

God may be allowing this so that you may relate to someone who needs YOUR comfort down the road.

When going through trials, God sees a bigger picture than we can ever see.

Trust Him.

Obeka will punch you into next week—literally. An ogre mage who breaks the flow of time through brute force, Obeka isn't concerned with piddling details like causality. A right cross from her will knock the baby teeth right into your mouth, and her uppercut is so powerful, your mother will feel it twenty years ago.

Obeka wants nothing more than to live an enjoyable life full of earthly pleasures and knock-down, drag-out fights. Good and bad are of little interest to her, as her only concern is if something sounds fun. She lives exclusively in the moment, and if that moment goes south, she'll beat it out of existence. If you get in her way, consider your wish that you were never born granted.

Sakashima of a Thousand Faces

Orphaned as a baby, Kenshi Sakashima's prospects seemed . . . uninspiring. He could take up a trade, find a wife, have a few children, and die, leaving behind a modest inheritance. Sakashima wanted more than his life could offer him. He wanted more than any one life could offer him. He became a master of masks, of makeup, of wigs. He disguised himself as any number of people and infiltrated all strata of Kamigawan society, both to enrich himself and to satisfy his curiosity. He studied under the master illusionist Chinsen, learning to make his mind a blank scroll, to become to role he played. He infiltrated ogres' strongholds, kitsunes' forests, and even the floating city of the soratami. It was all too easy for Sakashima. Only one challenge remained: to infiltrate the kakuriyo, the realm of the kami.

Esther

"And where would you be if he hadn't interrupted your life – if Jesus hadn't invaded your comfortable rebellion and beckoned you to repent and believe?

Once God turns our lives upside down, he doesn't stop using interruptions (large or small) for our good. Through them, he chastens our pride, slows our pace, opens our eyes, bends us toward dependence, and teaches us to trust. He reminds us that he is not after our maximum efficiency, but instead our maximum conformity to Christ, who was never too busy, too preoccupied, or too impatient to be interrupted."

Loved this, many points for reflection, and practical application – happy Saturday, family!

A woman with short, wavy blonde hair is lying on her back on a light-colored surface. She is wearing a dark blue jumpsuit. Her legs are raised and bent at the knees, with her feet crossed at the ankles. She is looking directly at the camera with a smile. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.

Some cards are multicolored (sometimes called "gold" due to their card frame), meaning they require more than one type of mana to use. Although Invasion block, the first set prominently themed around multicolor, was a smashing success (as evidenced by a definite spike in tournament attendance), in Mark Rosewater's words, it wasn't really a mechanic they explored much. The card pool was dominated by "Chinese menu" cards, meaning they took one ability from two colors, crunched them together on one card, and saw what happened. (the old adage of "one from column A, one from column B")

The "guild model" from Ravnica block has given way to a new era of understanding color combinations (especially two-color combinations). Mark Rosewater boldly campaigned to showcase all ten two-color combinations equally. Later the "small plane model" (shards) from Alara block and the "clan model" (wedges) from Tarkir block added a deeper understanding of the three-color combinations. Finally Commander 2018 gave an identity to the notoriously hard to design four-color combinations.

Ravnica Guilds (Allied Colors)	Ravnica Guilds (Enemy Colors)	Alara Shards
 : Azorius Senate  : House Dimir  : Cult of Rakdos  : Gruul Clans  : Selesnya Conclave	 : Orzhov Syndicate  : Izzet League  : Golgari Swarm  : Boros Legion  : Simic Combine	  : Bant   : Esper   : Grixis   : Jund   : Naya
Tarkir Clans (Wedges)	Four-color Identities
   : Abzan Houses    : Jeskai Way    : Sultai Brood    : Mardu Horde    : Temur Frontier	   : Artifice    : Chaos    : Aggression    : Altruism    : Growth

The last color combination is WUBRG (    ) which combines aspects from each color.

THE SELESNYA CONCLAVE

Make Their Own Laundry Detergent*

Michelle Tickles Papi - Pt 2

Michelle still has control of Papi. She teases her by pulling out the PowerScrubber which Papi has never experienced! So before using it, Michelle decides to show her bare soles and toes some love. And just when Papi is enjoying the foot worship, Michelle flicks on that switch. Once her toes feel the touch of those fast moving bristles, her giggles turn to full loud laughter! Michelle is relentless working over her feet and legs. Now get ready to turn your speakers down, cause when Michelle straddles Papi's body and uses that Scrubber on her armpits, the laughter is insane! She gets her neck, belly, under her shirt, sides...it's total laughter every second. Switching tools...who thought a little toothbrush would affect her long toe stems? Well it surely does in this clip. Michelle is back to her toes and soles with this item. It's not enough for Michelle as she goes back to using the PowerScrubber, toothbrush and her mouth all at the same time on Papi's upperbody. She now knows how it feels to be tied up and tickled. Her response to it all? "Yeyy, it's so cool!"

Another Day Of Tickling - Pt 1

Michelle comes over to do a photo shoot in her various new shoes. After dominating most of the day, photo shoot and Andre, she decides to relax on the bed. Removing her heels and pretty much running things. How can Andre get repaid for such abuse all day? Another Day of Tickling! Michelle is stretched out and "The Lucky Guy" decides to use some padded cuffs to bind her hands to the bed frame. He starts with her armpits, and works his way into her ticklish neck. He finds her weak spot which is right under her breasts and along her sides of them. He gives it to her good and then flips her over and begins to tickle her sides, and underbelly. While tickling her, Michelle's cell phone goes off! Oh No! She HAD to pay the price for that! He takes another cuff to her right ankle and ties that rope to her belt, putting her in a half hogtie leg. He plays and tickles her foot. She is squirming and laughing then he attacks her armpit and foot at the same time!

The FT Tickler shows her some techniques and he joins the action at some moments but this session is mostly FTF tickle torture.

Camity tickles Roxy's upperbody during the first 6 minutes of the clip and after that she's merciless with her helpless feet till the end of the session.

Roxy becomes crazy on the table without any way to stop the tickling on her most sensitive spots.

It tickles too much and she is laughing hysterically about the tickling.

THIS IS UPPERBODY REVENGE TIME ON LIU

This is now revenge time on Liu's helpless upperbody. Zhu plays with her sexy underarms, necks and ribs to discovers wich technique is the most unbearable for her. The FT tickler joins the action at some moments for a "Four Hands Punishment" on the asian beauty who seems to suffer. Liu hates to be tickled and this is exactly what we love to see. Zhu has so much fun with Liu and she does her best with her radiant

10. Infinite Bolas

Oath of Teferi means that you can activate loyalty abilities twice, and the rules treat Jace's -5 as "make two copies of this card."

So you can cast Nicol Bolas, activate his +1 ability, and then leech Jace's -5 ability. This creates two copies of Bolas, and then the same process turns them into four, eight, sixteen, and so on. That's the unlimited power that the Dragon-God was after, and if you keep activating his own +1 ability along the way every time, your opponent is left with no cards in hand and no permanents on the battlefield.

What's your favorite combo with War of the Spark cards?

Manhattan Division [edit]

The Manhattan and Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority (MxSTOA), a subsidiary of the New York City Transit Brand, operates all of the local buses in Manhattan.^[25] All Manhattan Bus Depots are represented by TWU Local 100.

Buses in the Manhattan Division may be swapped between depots on an as-needed basis, and are not reflected in the route assignments as these are short term loans to cover services at these depots.

Amsterdam Depot [edit]

Amsterdam Depot is located on the entire city block bounded by Amsterdam Avenue, Convent Avenue, and 129th and 129th Streets in Manhattanville, Manhattan, several blocks south of the City College of New York.^{[79][48]} It was built in 1952 as a trolley depot for the Third Avenue Railway.^{[32][78]} The last trolley was operated from the building on May 17, 1947.^[8] The building was then expanded and reopened as a bus garage by Surface Transit Inc., a subsidiary of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company.^{[5][90]} The MxSTOA assumed the depot's operations in 1982.^[2] The MTA shut down the Amsterdam Depot's bus operations on September 7, 2003, the day the new 100th Street Depot (since renamed the Tuskegee Airmen Depot) opened. The depot was part of the Manhattan Division until spring 1996, when it was transferred to the Bronx Division due to the opening of the Michael J. Gull Depot and the closure of the Walnut Depot.^{[74][9]} On January 6, 2006, MTA reopened the depot temporarily because of a rehabilitation project at the Mother Clara Hale Depot. Amsterdam Depot closed on June 27, 2010 due to service cuts. The M1 and M7 routes were transferred to Manhattanville, while the M96 route went to Michael J Gull Depot. This garage now houses and maintains most of the museum and vintage bus fleet.

Manhattanville Depot [edit]

Manhattanville Depot

The Manhattanville Depot, formerly the 132nd Street Depot,^{[74][150]} is a three-story structure located in the block bounded by Broadway, Riverside Drive, and 132nd and 133rd Streets in Manhattanville, Manhattan.^{[74][150]} The depot is viewable from the IRT Broadway – Seventh Avenue Line between 129th Street and 137th Street – City College. The depot holds 162 buses, with storage space on the second and third floors.^[74] The original site on 132nd Street and Broadway^[74] was a streetcar barn built in 1916 for the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, which later used it for buses.^{[92][54]} The facility was taken over by the MxSTOA subsidiary of the Transit Authority in March 1962.^{[92][74][95][150]} It served as the headquarters for the MxSTOA.^[2] The original depot was demolished in the late 1980s,^{[92][14]} and a new depot was erected opening on November 8, 1992,^[3] replacing the old 54th Street Depot (also a former Fifth Avenue Coach facility) which closed the same day. In September 1996, the depot operated a pilot fleet of 10 Orion VI hybrid electric buses.^{[95][74][140][150]} Also that year, it was planned to convert the depot into a compressed natural gas (CNG) facility due to community complaints, but the plan was scrapped due to the high cost of converting such a large facility.^{[75][170]}

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: M2, M3, M4, M5, M10, M11 (shared with Michael J Gull Depot) M96, M98, M106, M104, M116 (shared with Michael J Gull Depot)

Amsterdam Depot at 129th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, Manhattan

The Quill Depot is the largest MTA depot in the city, consisting of three floors and rooftop parking for buses.^[140] It is known for a unique "drum-like" structure at the northeast corner of the site, which holds the ramps between the levels.^{[140][141]} Maintenance facilities are located on the first and second floors.^[140] It originally featured training and sleeping quarters for Greyhound drivers.^[140] The depot stores around 250 to 350 buses.^{[140][142][40]} It is also used for midday layovers for express buses from other boroughs, with additional layover areas nearby in Midtown.^{[40][144][145]} The depot was proposed to be relocated to a site on the west side between West 30th and 31st Streets, as part of a planned expansion of the Javits Center,^{[142][141]} which was stated to be completed by 2010 but never fully commenced.

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: M8, M9, M11 (only Some Weekday Rush hour trips utilize Quill buses), M12, M20, M21, M22, M42, M50, M55, M57, M66, M72, M118 (only Some Weekday Rush hour trips utilize Quill buses).
- Articulated Local Routes/SBS routes: M14A SBS, M14C SBS, M23 SBS, M34 SBS, M34A SBS, M35, M50 SBS, M79 SBS, M86 SBS

Mother Clara Hale Depot [edit]

Mother Clara Hale Bus Depot

The site of the Mother Clara Hale Depot, formerly named the 146th Street Depot until 1993,^{[146][140][140][147]} is located at 721 Lenox Avenue, filling the block bounded by Lenox Avenue, Seventh Avenue, and 146th and 147th Streets in Harlem, Manhattan, two blocks south of the Harlem–146th Street subway station.^[146] The three-floor structure has capacity for 150 buses.^{[146][147]} The depot is named for Harlem humanitarian Clara Hale.^{[146][148]}

The site of the depot was initially home to the Lenox Avenue Car House, a two-story car barn and power station, built by the Metropolitan Street Railway for their Lenox Avenue Line, the first line in the city to use conduit electrification. The line and depot began service on July 6, 1895.^{[146][149]} The New York City Omnibus Corporation, which had replaced the trolley lines with bus routes in 1936, began constructing a new bus garage on the site in 1938.^{[146][150]} Operations from the new depot began on July 31, 1939.^{[146][151]} It was rehabilitated in 1990.^{[147][152]} This depot had capacity for 120 buses.^[146] On September 23, 1993 it was renamed the Mother Clara Hale Depot.^{[152][153][146]}

The previous depot building closed in January 2008 and was demolished in spring 2009.^{[146][152][152]} To make up for the lack of storage space, the Amsterdam Depot reopened temporarily, with some routes shifted to Manhattanville and West Farms. The old depot was originally a part of the Bronx Division. A new garage was built on the site after demolition, designed as a "green depot" with solar panels and features for energy conservation and efficiency.^{[146][147][152]} The new depot was opened on November 20, 2014, at the cost of $262 million.^{[147][153][153]} The new depot, which can now house 150 buses, has replaced the 126th Street Depot, which lies above a historical 17th century African-American burial ground; it opened as a directly-run NYCT depot in the Manhattan Division like the 126th Street Depot^[5] on January 4, 2015, though many routes are operated from other depots.

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: M1, M7¹⁴⁶
- Articulated Local Routes: M15 SBS

Tuskegee Airmen Depot [edit]

The Tuskegee Airmen Depot, formerly named 100th Street Depot,^{[cite source]} is located at 1552 Lexington Avenue,^{[cite source]} filling the block bounded by Park Avenue, Lexington Avenue, and 99th and 100th Streets in the East Harlem neighborhood of Manhattan, north of the 99th Street subway station, and near the 97th St portal of the Park Avenue Tunnel. The depot had been a car barn for streetcars on the Lexington Avenue Line, built in 1895.^{[cite source]} The depot was closed in spring 1996 and was demolished, and reconstructed, while the Michael J. Quill Depot was opened to replace it.^{[cite source]} The depot reopened on September 7, 2003,^{[cite source]} taking on a number of routes from the Hudson Depot.^{[cite source]} It became the Tuskegee Airmen Depot on March 23, 2012, in honor of the famous World War II airmen.^{[cite source]} The facility has drawn the ire of many East Harlem residents; many residents cite high asthma rates in the area and the fact that the depot is in a residential area.^{[cite source]}^{[cite source]}

This depot houses the buses used on the M15, M101, M102, and M103 articulated routes, as well as one standard local route the M31. The depot is also used for midday layovers of express buses from other boroughs.^{[cite source]}

Queens Division [edit]

MTA Regional Bus Operations operate various local and express routes under New York City Transit and MTA Bus Company, with three Queens MTA Bus Company depots (Baisley Park, College Point & LaGuardia) being members of Transport Workers Union Local 100^{[192][193][194]} and all Queens NYCT depots, Far Rockaway Depot & JFK Depot being members of ATU Local 1066 and Local 1179 of Queens, New York.^[195] All New York City Transit Queens Division supervisors are members of Transport Workers Union Local 106.^[196]

Note: Buses in the Queens Division may be swapped between depots on an as-needed basis, and are not reflected in the route assignments as these are short term loans to cover services at these depots.

Baisley Park Depot [edit]

The Baisley Park Depot is located at the southeast corner of Guy R. Brewer Boulevard and Linden Boulevard (114-15 Guy R. Brewer Boulevard)^[197] in South Jamaica, Queens, in the New York City borough of Queens, northeast of Baisley Pond Park.^{[112][198]} It is owned by GTJ Real Inc. (Green, Triboro, Jamaica) Realty Investment Trust, Inc., successor to the former operators and Command Bus Company, and leased to the City of New York, and operated by MTA Bus Company for a period of 21 years.^{[94][95][96]} The brick facility was opened in 1966 and was operated by Jamaica Buses; the company's original depot was located across the street (114-02 Guy R. Brewer Boulevard) before the land was acquired by New York State in 1968.^{[112][199][200][201]} On January 30, 2006, it was leased to the City of New York and MTA Bus.^[97] Later that year, a bus operator training center was opened at the facility.^[197] In 2016, the depot began receiving articulated buses. These buses are mainly used by the Guy R. Brewer Boulevard routes.^{[199][202][203]}

As of summer 2016, this depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: Q64, Q110, Q112^{[191][191]}
- Articulated Local Routes: Q111, Q113, Q114^{[191][199][191]}
- Express Routes: QM4, QM21, QM44^[191]

The Q64 used to be the Q65A of Queens Surface Corporation, later operating from the MTA's College Point Depot until 2010. The QM4, also a former Queens Surface route, operated from the College Point Depot until 2016. Later in the year, the QM44 was created to ease confusion between the Third Avenue and Sixth Avenue branches of the QM4. The remaining routes had been Jamaica Bus routes.^{[191][192]}

Far Rockaway Depot [+]

The Far Rockaway Depot is situated on Rockaway Beach Boulevard and Beach 49th Street (49-19 Rockaway Beach Boulevard)^[20] in Averne / Edgemere, Queens on the Rockaway Peninsula.^[21] The depot was used by Green Bus Lines until January 9, 2006, when MTA Bus took over Green Bus Lines and started operating the old company's bus routes. The depot, as well as JFK Depot, are owned by GTJ Real, Inc.,^{[24][25]} except for the newly built annex building which is owned by the MTA-NYCTA, and had been used by Green Bus Lines Inc. before being leased to the City of New York and MTA Bus in 2006 for a period of 21 years. The depot has two storage lots and a small maintenance facility. Following damage from Hurricane Sandy, the facility was closed between October 2012 and February 2013, with its fleet housed at Building 78 on the grounds of John F. Kennedy International Airport two blocks away from the JFK Depot.^[200] In 2014, the MTA opened a new annex building with a modern and updated maintenance facility, to expand this facility in order to maintain and support more buses.^[26] The project to fully restore the depot was scheduled to begin in 2015,^[26] but has yet to begin as of 2016.^[26] It has also been proposed to partially power the facility using wind turbines.^[27]

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes, all of which were descended from former Green Lines routes.^{[21][43][200]}

- Local Routes: Q11, Q21, Q22, Q36, Q41

Jamaica Depot [+]

The Jamaica Depot is located on the west side of Merrick Boulevard just south of Liberty Avenue in Jamaica, Queens. The depot lies between Merrick Boulevard to the east and 165th Street to the west, and spans about three blocks north-to-south between South Road and 107th Avenue, located across the campus of York College. The depot was opened by the North Shore Bus Company in August 1942^{[215][204][200]} and inherited by the Board of Transportation in 1947.^{[216][204][207][200]} An addition was constructed in 1950, adding additional storage and a bus washing area.^{[216][26]} The depot was expanded again in 1966,^[216] and from 1983 to 1994.^[26]

The 50,000 square foot depot is the oldest existing New York City Transit Depot.^{[216][204]} It holds 150 buses at capacity, but is assigned 208 buses, many of which are parked on the surrounding streets.^{[216][204]} Due to its age and capacity issues and to accommodate articulated buses, the MTA plans to demolish the existing structure and build a new and expanded depot on the same site, as well as on 50,000 square feet of adjacent property purchased in April 2014. Construction was anticipated to begin in 2018, and be complete by 2022, with all of its buses, and local routes temporarily sent to other depots.^{[7][23][26][204]}

This depot houses the buses used on the Q3, Q4, Q5, Q17, Q30, Q42, Q77, Q84, and Q85 local routes.^{[26][204]}

John F. Kennedy Bus Depot or JFK Depot, along with Far Rockaway Depot, is an MTA Bus garage that used to be operated by Green Bus Lines and was assumed by MTA Bus on January 9, 2006.^[1] It was the primary storage and maintenance facility for the company.^[1] The depot was built from 1951 to 1952 at the cost of $500,000.^{[2][3]} It is owned by GTJ Real Inc (the successor to Green Lines) and is leased to the City of New York and operated by MTA Bus for a period of 21 years.^{[2][3]} JFK Depot is located in Springfield Gardens at 147th Avenue and Rockaway Boulevard (165-25 147th Avenue)^[2] near JFK Airport.^[1]

LaGuardia Depot [edit]

Buses at the LaGuardia Depot, including a former Triboro Coach RTS bus (far right).

LaGuardia Depot is located on a two-block long structure (85-01 24th Avenue)^{[20][12]} bound by 85th and 87th Street, and 23rd and 24th Avenues in the East Elmhurst & Jackson Heights neighborhoods of Queens, New York near LaGuardia Airport.^[12] The depot was opened on January 15, 1954,^[12] is owned by GTJ Real Inc,^[20] and was operated by Triboro Coach Corporation^[12] before being leased to the City of New York and operated by MTA Bus Company on February 20, 2006 for a period of 21 years.^[12] In 1989, a methanol fuel station was installed at the facility for six General Motors-built RTS methanol buses.^{[7][8][14][21]} It was later used in the early 1990s to fuel an NYCT demonstration bus from the Cadrey Stangel Depot^[20] and three new Triboro-operated RTS buses fitted with special Detroit Diesel Series 92 engines.^[12] Beginning in 1994, the facility dispatched compressed natural gas (CNG) buses in addition to its diesel fleet.^{[12][14][21]} The depot was decommissioned from CNG operations in 2008 due to not meeting the MTA's safety and environmental standards.^{[12][17]} On April 10, 2008, while workers from KaySpan were removing CNG from tanks and a private contractor was conducting construction near the depot, a gas compressor station exploded leading to a large fire at the depot. One bus was destroyed and 12 were damaged.^{[12][17][18][21][21a]} Also, work to modify this depot to accommodate articulated-buses is almost completed.

This depot houses the folowing bus routes. Many of these used to be Triboro Routes. Several had been Queens Surface Corporation routes that operate in western Queens, which were closer to the LaGuardia Depot than their former Queens Surface depot in College Point.

- Local Routes: Q18, Q29, Q33, Q38, Q47, Q49, Q67, Q69, Q70 SBS, Q72, Q100, Q101, Q102, Q103, Q104^{[19][22]}

The Queens Village Depot is located on 97-11 222nd Street between 97th and 98th Avenues in Queens Village, Queens, across to the west from Belmont Park.^[291] The MTA began acquiring land for the depot in 1956.^{[292][293][294]} The depot was opened on September 8, 1974,^{[292][293][295]} and it is on the site of what was Dugan's Bakery.^{[292][293][297]} Upon opening, the depot received many former North Shore Bus Company routes from the existing Casey Stengel and Jamaica Depots, and relieved overcrowding at those depots.^{[292][293][298]} In 1979, the buses from the depot tested a radio-based real-time information system called the "Radio-Data-Locator System", precursor to MTA Bus Time.^{[299][300][301]} The depot was renovated in 1987.^[2] The depot stores around 250 buses.^{[302][303][304][305]} It has 202,178 square feet (18,783.0 m²) of space. The Queens Village Depot building won an Award Honor for engineering excellence from the New York Association of Consulting Engineers.

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

Staten Island Division [edit]

All Staten Island division bus depots are the members of Amalgamated Transit Union Local 726 of Staten Island, New York and are all operated by New York City Transit.^[306]

Note: Buses in the Staten Island Division may be swapped between depots on an as-needed basis, and are not reflected in the route assignments as these are short term loans to cover services at these depots.

Castleton Depot [edit]

Castleton Depot, also called Castleton Avenue Depot,^[307] is located on 1390 Castleton Avenue and fills the block bounded by Jewett Avenue, Hurst Street, Castleton Avenue, and Rector Street in Port Richmond.^[307] A large parking lot on the east side of Rector Street is also used for bus storage. The depot was constructed in the late 1940s to provide urgently needed storage space for city-owned buses on Staten Island.^[308] When Isle Transportation went bankrupt in 1947, the city's Board of Transportation (predecessor of NYC Transit) took control of the majority of Staten Island bus operations.^{[309][10]} It was built to hold 136 buses,^[309] and can now store about 340 buses.^[309]

Following the closure of the Brook Street Depot, Isle Transportation's original facility, in 1958,^[307] Castleton Depot was the only city-owned depot on Staten Island and was known as Staten Island Depot. The next permanent depot to open in the borough was Yukon Depot, opened in 1981.^[2] This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: S40, S42, S46, S48, S51, S52, S53, S54, S66, S78, S81, S86, S90, S93, S96, S98

Charleston Depot [edit]

The Charleston Depot is located at 4700 Arthur Kill Road near the Outerbridge Crossing in Charleston, Staten Island.^[26] The facility includes a 87,000-square-foot (8,100 m²) two-story building, with enough room to service and maintain 220 buses, but also includes outdoor parking for buses and employees. The site was selected in 2000.^[226] The depot was announced in September 2005 as part of the MTA's 2000-2004 Capital Plan, to relieve the overcrowding and maintenance and storage pressure's between the Castleton and Yukon bus depots, both of which had limited bus storage space. The depot was also intended to help expand express bus service in Staten Island, and improve service for then-36,000 Staten Islanders who used express buses.^[226] A new depot had been planned for around 30 years, and attempts to secure funding lasted around a decade.^{[226][262][240]} After delays due to lack of funding,^[241] construction on the depot (then called the Charleston Bus Annex)^{[233][238]} began on February 15, 2008.^[239] The depot was opened on December 6, 2010.^{[243][242]}

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: S55, S56, S74, S78, S84

Meredith Avenue Depot

The Meredith Avenue Depot or Meredith Depot is located at 280 and 336 Meredith Avenue, at the intersection of Meredith Avenue and South Avenue (formerly Chelsea Road) near the shoreline of Arthur Kill and Prall's Island in Chelsea.^{[283][242]} This depot was constructed in 2009 to expand storage capacity in the borough, with the MTA operating the site on a 15-year lease.^{[143][243][244]} The depot was built on largely vacant land, with the exception of an 1890s-era house.^[242] It has space for 80 buses, and light maintenance facilities.^{[144][243][244]} It operates only from Monday to Friday, and houses exclusively express buses,^[242] which are rotated from the other Staten Island depots. Meredith Avenue depot was closed due to damage from Hurricane Sandy, but has since reopened.

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Express Routes: SIM3 (shared with Castleton Av Depot), SIM4X (shared with Charleston Depot), SIM15, SIM30, SIM32, SIM33, SIM34 (shared with Castleton Av Depot), SIM35 (shared with Castleton Av Depot).

Legendary Enchantment

You may have lands you play enter the battlefield as a copy of any permanent on the battlefield.

Caring about lands that you play entering the battlefield rather than lands you control entering the battlefield is an unusual hair to split. Be very careful if you want to lean on that distinction.

Wow, what a crazy ability! This is terrific.

This looks broken to me. Once this resolves, all your ramp spells become the best thing in play. Explosive Vegetation, get you and your opponent's biggest, baddest creatures or planeswalker sounds way too strong to me. But the scariest thing about this is that lands are uncounterable and can't be responded to. There is no opportunity for counterplay once this resolves. This card is very difficult to play against.

This will function much like Spitting Image, except you don't get a clone up front and you can copy any permanent, not just creatures. I'd want to playtest with this to see how confusing it is to have lands that are copies of things rather than tokens that are copies of things.

This is a great mythic rare design. It's unique and it makes players try to figure out how to best use it.

Heart's Desire (mythic rare)

Enchantment

If you would search your library for a card or cards, search for twice as many cards that fit the search criteria instead.

Some cards like Cultivate that refer to a singular "the other" can easily enough be brushed off as affecting "the others," which is a power level issue rather than rules. Protean Hulk boggles in confusion, though—two sets with total converted mana cost 6, or one? I'd aim the text simpler to get straight to the point and only mention the bits you care about:

While searching your library for one or more cards, you may search for up to twice that many cards.

I would reword this to search twice (since I am not confident "twice as many" always works), but it is a very interesting idea.

I like this card. It can lead to a lot of searching and shuffling (because you are building around it), which will slow down gameplay, but I think it is expensive enough where the amount of decks it will appear in is limited. I think this card looks fun.

This reads as pretty appealing for players (not me, mind you!) who enjoy Tutors, but I'd be shocked if it actually works with many search effects. What does this do with Long-Term Plans? What about Scion of the Ur-Dragon?

Doubling searches? I think I'm in love. My only criticism of this card is a self-criticism that I didn't think of it first.

Ral, Living Experiment (mythic rare)

Legendary Planeswalker — Ral

+2: Discard a card. If you do, draw two cards.

0: Instant and sorcery spells you cast cost 1 less to cast this turn.

-9: Take an extra turn after this one. During that turn, whenever you cast an instant or sorcery spell, copy it. You may choose new targets for the copy.

This is a very clear Ral design.

This is nice. All abilities are appealing, the entire package works, and it is in character for Ral.

A cost-reduction ability on a six-mana planeswalker seems out of place to me. The ultimate doesn't seem very splashy to me; generally we want our ultimates to help bring the game to a close, but this ability is only going to close out games under certain circumstances (when you're ahead on board and/or have a powerful spell to double).

This both seems like a flavorful capturing of Ral Zarek and fun card to play. I particularly like the ultimate in that it allows you to take many turns setting it up. My one change is I might make the second ability an emblem so that it could interact with the ultimate.

Design 9

Pam, Shapeshifting Planeswalker (mythic rare)

2GU

Legendary Planeswalker — Pam

+1: You may choose a creature or non-Pam planeswalker on the battlefield. If you do, Pam becomes a copy of that creature or planeswalker and gains indestructible until end of turn. If Pam becomes a copy of a planeswalker, she may activate a loyalty ability once this turn as though none of her loyalty abilities have been activated this turn.

-2: Create a 3/3 green Ooze creature token.

-6: For each player, search his or her library for a creature or planeswalker card and put it onto the battlefield under your control. Then each player shuffles his or her library.

Be wary of giving planeswalkers indestructible—it won't save the planeswalker from damage-based removal, but if you say that a planeswalker gets it, it's easy to misconstrue that as your intent.

This is novel, but it takes so much text I don't know that it is fruitful.

I think this is a very cool +1. All of these abilities seem reasonable to me, as far as costs and numbers go. One concern I see here is the ultimate can be very time-consuming in a multiplayer game. Think about all the other players waiting around while you search each library. However, that is an easy fix, and overall I like this a lot.

I like the idea of a green-blue planeswalker that can shapeshift. The Ooze token is a nice simple thing that feels like it could fit thematically with a shapeshifting character. I really hate Bribery effects, but I guess as a planeswalker's ultimate it's okay, and if you have loyalty left over afterwards you can clone whatever the biggest thing is on your next turn. Just be careful of cards that punish players for casting good creatures (or planeswalkers) or even for including them in their deck.

I like each of your three activated abilities. Unfortunately, I don't understand what they have to do with one another. The key to good planeswalker design is to create something that allows the player to have an interesting set of interconnecting paths to explore, that by using the abilities in a certain order you can achieve some larger victory. Your paths don't really interconnect. On top of that your flavor doesn't bind them together either. Pam's a shapeshifter. That explains the +1 activation. Why is she making Oozes? Why is she able to summon other people's creatures and planeswalkers? It neither mechanically nor flavorfully hangs together. In short, I like your pieces, but they don't seem to be from the same jigsaw puzzle.

Sorin, The Prequel (mythic rare)

3WB

Legendary Planeswalker — Sorin

+2: Each opponent loses 1 life and you gain 1 life.

-3: Exile target nonland permanent an opponent controls until Sorin, The Prequel leaves the battlefield.

-10: Create a legendary 8/8 white Angel creature token named Avacyn, Angel of Hope with flying, vigilance, indestructible, and other permanents you control have indestructible.

This fits, but I don't like piling on "the whole game is removing this planeswalker."

There is some interesting tension here with exiling a creature and then having to protect this planeswalker or else they get their creature back. However I think as a package this planeswalker is very weak. It's pretty expensive at five, and when you plus it all you're getting is a drain. Since the plus is not worth doing, then you're putting this in your deck to use the minus, and this minus is not worth five mana. It looks like this card was made with multiplayer in mind, if it was I think it would be more interesting if the ability scaled with the number of players in the game (exile a creature for each player). As is, I believe this card is too weak to excite players.

This is nice and flavorful. The +2 ability plays into Sorin's primary identity as a Vampire. The -3 ability resembles the Helvault's ability, and Sorin's ultimate creates an Avacyn token. If we ever did some sort of flashback set about early Innistrad, a design like this might be appropriate.

My notes on this card are similar to my notes on your last planeswalker. I like the pieces, but they don't add up to a compelling whole. If Avacyn, for example was a / creature where her power and toughness was equal to your life total, then your life drain to get to the ultimate would have meant something. If anything, your middle ability decreases the chances you'll ever get to the ultimate, because once you lock something away, the ultimate essentially turns into -11 as you want Sorin to survive the ultimate. I do appreciate the flavor, and the tie to Sorin helps make this feel more cohesive than Pam, but there is still a bunch of tweaking I would want to see before we printed this.

+2: Put the top 2 cards of your library into your graveyard. Gain 2 life.

-2: Return target permanent card from your graveyard to your hand.

-7: Until end of turn, you may play cards from your graveyard. If a card would be put into your graveyard from anywhere this turn, exile that card instead.

Keep in mind that Jori's last ability will stop "when something dies" triggers when nontoken permanents die, but not tokens. Do you want to risk players misplaying, or play it safe and just have "a card or token" exiled if it tries to go to your graveyard?

This is a straightforward, solid planeswalker design.

Three-mana planeswalkers are tricky to make because they are much harder to deal with than four-mana planeswalkers by a significant amount. This comes down before the opponent has a board presence. For this reason, we usually start off three-mana planeswalkers with low loyalty. You started yours at three and it immediately goes to five. While it does not do anything on the plus, the opponent will have to invest a lot of resources in killing this. That said, I think this design is very cool. It has some fun play patterns (mill yourself, fill your graveyard, cast all your stuff, get back permanents when you need to do that). I am usually going to be happy activating any of the abilities and the choices are interesting, whether I want to work up to the ultimate or minus to get a key card back. I think this planeswalker is great if we adjust the numbers.

A tight package where every ability works together in a cohesive way. The Yawgmoth's Will ultimate is saucy! As I said above, planeswalkers are hard, and this one is pretty compelling. This card doesn't have any way to protect itself with its abilities, so it might want to start with higher loyalty (and have a corresponding higher ultimate cost).

This is another cool design. It leans a bit more black, but there's enough green in the design to justify the two colors. I wonder whether the ultimate should just be an emblem rather than an "until end of turn" effect.

+1: If you control no thopters, create a 1/1 colorless thopter artifact creature token with flying. Otherwise, scry 2.

-2: Target thopter you control becomes a copy of target artifact or creature. It's still an artifact. (This effect doesn't end at end of turn.)

-8: You get an emblem with At the beginning of your end step, search your library for an artifact card with converted mana cost X or less, where X is two plus the highest converted mana cost among artifacts you control. Put it onto the battlefield, then shuffle your library.

I like the abilities, but I doubt they all fit. Also, I would not be surprised if the middle ability needs to be -X based on the converted mana cost of the copied permanent, so I would try and find a significantly shorter ultimate, one short enough to fit the converted mana cost text.

Four-mana walkers that create tokens on the +1 are risky in Constructed, and this is a nice way to mitigate that risk. The minus ability creates tracking issues as I must remember which Thopter is which creature, especially if this is activated multiple times.

This card presents significant user experience problems. Let's talk through my imagined scenario: I activate the +1 ability with an otherwise empty board. I get a Thopter, putting a cardboard token with "Thopter" printed on it onto the table. All good. My opponent doesn't want to cast their cool creature on their turn, because I will just clone it. I cast my own cool creature, then I activate Saheeli's -2 to clone it. However, the clone is represented by the cardboard token with "Thopter" written on it. Okay? On my next turn, I go to activate my +1 ability again. Wait, can I do this? Suddenly the fact that my -2 ability over-writes my Thopter token's creature type is very relevant, but not at all obvious from how the game state is physically represented. This seems unnecessarily confusing to me. Similarly, the ultimate ability shines a spotlight on the fact that copies of things have the same converted mana cost as the original, but again, my token won't have that information on it. All these criticisms aside, I like that all the abilities relate to each other in a way that makes the card feel cohesive. It feels like Saheeli to me, making artifact copies of things.

Planeswalkers are hard to design, partially because they have a lot of technical restrictions and partially because matching the flavor of the Planeswalker is difficult. I think you did a good job here. Now to nitpick. I like that the first ability restricts how many Thopters you have at one time, but I feel you got a little cheaty sneaking two effects onto one ability. The final ability interacts with the second ability, making you want to use them together, but the fact that they're both negative loyalty abilities means this will almost never actually happen.

Mugai Creation Saga (mythic rare)

5GGUU

Sorcery

Do both of these, in either order -

* Draw a card for each creature you control.

* Create a 2/2 green Bear creature token for each card in your hand.

This breaks a couple rules about modal spells, but hey, rules were made to be broken! Wait, that's not what I'm supposed to say, is it? This design is a wonderful example of something that the rules specifically forbid (spells always do their things in the printed order) but only because there's not an exception that we need to point out. You stretched your design and found an exception; that's easy to write rules for.

This is a delightful elegant and innovative design; it is your best card. I think the template is flexible enough that it is worthy of an exploration for a splashy spell cycle.

This looks very cool and leads to interesting choices. My biggest problem is how expensive this is to cast. Nine mana is a lot to ask for and many players don't reach this amount of mana naturally. When you get to that late in the game, you probably don't have very many cards in your hand, making this card much less of a choice. If you're playing a ramp deck, I don't think this is an exciting payoff at nine mana.

I love the idea of choosing the order in which the card's modes are executed. I wonder if there are enough similar designs to turn this into a cycle. A+! I don't think this needs to cost nine mana necessarily, but that's a minor quibble.

I really like this design. It's both relatively simple but complex in its strategic application. It's also splashy and unique. I agree with Erik that this design would inspire me to design a cycle around it (I'd probably move it down to rare, not that this card in a vacuum can't be mythic rare, it's just a lot to commit to a mythic rare cycle). I also agree with Melissa and Ethan that I wouldn't want this to be so expensive to cast. Big thumbs up!

Gwyn, Harvest Celebrant (mythic rare)

2BG

Planeswalker — Gwyn

+1: You may sacrifice a creature. If you do, return a creature card from your graveyard to your hand.

-2: Target creature gets +2/+2 until end of turn. Another target creature gets -2/-2 until end of turn.

-7: You get an emblem with Whenever a creature dies, each opponent loses 3 life and you may draw a card.

An important part of planeswalker design is answering the question "What am I going to do the turn I cast this?" This doesn't answer the question very well. If the player doesn't control a creature, and the opponent only controls one creature, there isn't much to do. I suggest changing the second ability to accommodate boards with only one creature, such as not requiring giving a creature +2/+2.

This card is a solid four-mana planeswalker. My problem with it is that it is not very exciting or doing anything special. Planeswalkers are our story characters and some of the most important card in the set, and this character has no identity and doesn't feel very different from other characters from the past. I dislike the +1 because it leads to repetitive gameplay. Since you are adding loyalty, you are incentivized to activate this ability the most, and you are always going to return your strongest creature. I don't think the play pattern is fun here. I would have made this a minus, so you can't just do this over and over.

I like how cohesive this design feels. Both the plus and the minus ability interact with the emblem (usually). I'm a bit concerned that neither of the top two abilities do much if you don't have a creature on the battlefield. This card may be too narrow in its application to see much play in Standard, which is where we position most of our planeswalkers to hit.

This planeswalker manages to both be flavorful and mechanically interconnected. (This is very hard to do, by the way. You all are making it look easier than it is.) I like how the card blends black and green abilities in a way that holistically feels connected. I also think it leads to an interesting deck to build. Finally, the play pattern of this card feels fun and super black-green. I would change the first ability to exile the creature instead of sacrificing it to lessen the repetition of the card.

Keeper, Underworld Warden (mythic rare)

Planeswalker — Keeper

1: Exile up to one target creature card from a graveyard.

-1: Target player reveals their hand. You choose a nonland card from it. Exile that card.

-2: Exile target permanent.

When CARDNAME leaves the battlefield, at the beginning of the next end step, return each card exiled with her to its owner's hand.

Often planeswalkers create a problem in that removing them is so critical that their presence on the battlefield leaves no interesting decisions. Your design however allows the player to hedge and exile creatures from their own graveyard, making the opponent think twice about destroying it. This design is a winner.

Having a dies trigger on a planeswalker is interesting, and this design gives both you and the opponent a good amount of tension, which will lead to fun gameplay.

None of this card's abilities interact with each other; even the -1 ability exiles the card from hand so you can't exile it from the graveyard later with the +1 ability. The rate on this card seems very strong to me; it can exile two permanents or four cards from hand for only four mana. The +1 ability is irrelevant under most circumstances, and probably won't be activated unless the opponent has already been completely stripped of resources. There is little for me to like about this design.

This is the first planeswalker design I've ever seen with a death trigger. I like how each of the abilities connects to the death trigger. I also like that it's a planeswalker where its controller will occasionally choose to kill it on purpose. I'll disagree with Ethan and say, all in all, this card is a nice little package of a design.

Commander 2020 – Ikororia Commander

Gavin was quick to discuss how much the format has grown since the initial Commander product, and how much has changed since 2011 when the first Commander preconstructed decks were released. As a result, the release schedule will be going through some new changes. Commander 2020 is now going to be tied to the release of Ikororia: Lair of Behemoths, a regular set release in mid-April. The set will also shift back to a series of five preconstructed decks, rather than the four decks we've received ever since Commander 2017.

Best of all, these preconstructed decks will contain an unprecedented 71 new cards.

This is the first time a Commander set will be tied in

Zendikar Rising Commander Decks

One of the most exciting revelations from this announcement is that there won't just be one set of Commander decks! A second batch of Commander preconstructed decks will be tied to the release of Zendikar Rising, outside of the traditional one-per-year release of Commander products. These decks will replace the Planeswalker Decks that previously accompany new full-size sets.

Notably, these decks will contain only three new cards per deck – almost certainly the legendary creatures that helm them – while the rest of the cards in the deck will be reprints. Though some may initially hear that line and think, “Only three new cards?”, many of us are delighted at the prospect of increasing the avenues for reprints of exciting format

Commander Legends

The biggest part of the announcement is dedicated to what could easily be one of the biggest and most impactful products for the format ever: Commander Legends.

Commander Legends is a brand new set for Commander players. Not a preconstructed product, but a full-on booster set designed to answer the question, "What if you could draft Commander?" The set will contain not only a ton of reprints, but also a ton of new cards, including a whopping 70 new legends.

70. New. Legends. Most sets have like 8 legendary creatures! Even Dominaria only had 44! This set will have 70!

Unlike the decks tied to Ikorla and Zendikar Rising, the Commander Legends isn't done yet! It will follow suit with Ichoria and Zendikar Rising by having two more preconstructed decks to accompany the set! Like the Zendikar Rising precons, these will also have three new cards, and even more reprints from outside the main set. This means we have a total of NINE preconstructed Commander decks coming into the fold in 2020, more than the past two years combined. Imagine if we'd gotten Commander 2016 and Commander 2017 in the same year. That's about where we're at in the year 2020.

2020 is Legendary

A recurring phrase came up often during the announcement video: "It is a great time to be a Commander player." This couldn't be more true; Gavin's excitement is matched only by the sheer number of upcoming products coming in 2020.

It is hard to narrow down what to be the most excited for, especially as there seems to be a product for all levels of players. Ikoria Commander takes the usual precon deck formula and gives it an exciting new twist. Zendikar Rising and Commander Legends preconstructed decks appear to be designed as a readily available, constant gateway into the format, so new players always have starting points year-round. Commander Legends is ready to appease even the most advanced players with their deckbuilding skills as they construct decks on the fly. Even Commander
